
Cannot get Global neo counter to display anything.

Posted by zubo - 2008/05/03 09:50

Hi all

Joomla 1.5

Installed the module and enabled it - checked paras left all defaults set entered my email address in module registration - or should that be zubo?

Anyway I previewed - Frontpage has another plugin which opens an mp3 file and plays it - it uses Flash player so I assume it was that plugin - never had this before - but displayed dialog Adobe Flash Player 9: A script in this movie is causing Adobe Flash Player to run slowly. Do you want to abort.

In the meantime (I'm running localhost here) the counter is trying to get data from some server I think at neo.... after a very long time it finishes loading and displays a big black box containing nothing....

So has it failed to connect? why is this module seemingly interfering with my music player??

let me know please

george

=====

Re:Cannot get Global neo counter to display anything.

Posted by zubo - 2008/05/03 14:45

Doesn't anybody know what is going on here?

The flash message has gone...

I do not get any black box with nothing...

and it is quicker

now I get dsg by Vivociti which is a link to here come on guys ... how do I get this to work please???

george

=====

Re:Cannot get Global neo counter to display anything.

Posted by zubo - 2008/05/04 02:22

Eventually had to goto NeoWorkx site:

to use this you have to register there and you can modify the design there and it gives you code to paste onto your page or blog.

The registration gives you free tryout for two weeks then you have to pay - oh and when I registered nowhere does it tell you the registration number but it is embedded in the code to paste.

Exactly same here - I had to register but nothing tells you about the code you need - in fact I don't think you get the code.

So I hardly think this is non-commercial - do you.

I may add it is pretty but I feel as if I have been misled.

Perhaps the developer would like to comment?

george

=====